SLUMP IN WALL STREET CONDITIONS

Comparative Figures Show a Tremendous Falling Off in Vol-

NEW YORK, March 12.-The stock martet developed some activity today and a ather positive tone of weakness. The weakness was largely sympathetic with | + cially Metropolitan Street Railway and Metropolitan Securities. The liquidation in these two stocks gave signs of urgency nd cost the former 6% points and the

The selling was unexplained by any news rogarding the property and was thought likely to be due to settlement of one or two large estates largely interested in the property. Pennsylvania was also freely pressed for sale and broke through the support which has been in evidence above 112. The price touched 1115, which is only above the low point since the last stock issue started its long decline. The market hardened on short covering and the closing was firm. United States Steel was conspicuous in the recovery. The decrease in leans shown by the bank statement was contrary to expectations. The bank statement was of little influence, however, as the present condition of the money market gives little occasion for solicitude. The steadiness of Northern Securities on the curb had a dissuasive influence on traders who sold stock vesterday to discount a possible decision in the Supreme court on Monday. ENORMOUS SLUMP IN SALES.

It is a far cry from the 2.522,109 sares of stock sold on the New York stock exchange on April 20, 1911, to the 73,300 shares sold on Thursday of last week. It is a striking showing of the vickinstudes in the world of speculation, and might serve by the rule of three to measure the conditions in stock exchange circles then and now. The market is absolutely unresponsive to news developments, whether favorable or unfavorable, and lies inert, to the despuir of all who look to business in stocks and bends for their profits. At the full commission of one-eighth of 1 per cent en orders allowed by the rules of the stock exchange. Thursday's sales of 73,600 shares would yield about 1825, allowing the commission both to the buyer and the seller. The membership of the exchange numbers themselves or of orders given by one member to another, on which the commission is less, ranging down to 22 on 100 shares of stock. The gloom which pervades the circles in whose hands lie the conduct of the machinery of the market is thus appreciable. Three vears are a suggestion of the possibility of the purchase of a railroad system by another was sufficient to throw the market into a frenzy. At the period when the Burington purchase was working out, a mere surmise that the Union Pacific was to be included in the beriod when the Burlington purchase was working out, a mere surmise that the Union Pacific was to be included in the "community of interest" induced transactions in 602,500 shares of Union Pacific in one day, April 24, 1901. Even as late as April 15, 1902, the 'mor tant Louisville & Nashvillo was and to the control of 504,500 in Southern Fallway alone on that date. There was scarcely a radirond stock we the list but what was regarded as a was a stock to be paid was regarded as a stock to be paid was regarded as too extravagent. The fact that the payment was to be made in new securities detracted not at all from the importance attached to the transaction, as the insatiable demand for securities in the market could be relied upon to convert them into cash.

The United States Steel corporation was confidently regarded as an assurance of the future stability in that trade in regulating the production and guarding against the violent fluctuations in prices which had formerly destroyed the industry at periodical intervals.

THROUGH OPERATORS EYES.

The ordinary operator in Wall street looked forward to the early assimilation of all the great railroad systems of the country in one "community of interest" which would do away with destructive competition, while the various industries. which would do away with destructive competition, while the various industries were to be compolidated under centralized control which would insure their stability and attract the conlident investment of the savings of all grades of employees for the price of the sharing in the profits of enterprise. From the present standpoint of cool reflection and experience, the excessive speculative exalization of that time seems a sufficient warning in itself of the violent revulsion which was to follow, in accordance with the history of all similar thovements. The revulsion of sentiment on the part of the outside world had been accentuated by the revelutions of the unscruptulous methods employed in the formation of some of the corporations whose shares were offered to the public and the flagrant manipulation by which the floatation was furthered.

The assumption that the legal obstacles opposed to the process of combination and the flagrant manipulation by which the flotation was furthered.

The assumption that the legal obstacles opposed to the process of combination were the direct causes of the breaking up of the carnival of speculation sharpons the fiftheness attributed to the Northern Securities decision, which is awaited with a feverish anxiety from week to week and almost from day to day. The supposition that the stock market will promptly find its bearings when that decision becomes known, however, takes smail account of the plentiful signs of industrial and commercial reaction in all quarters. The decilining tendency of railroad earnings and traffic and of bank clearings, the accumulation of idic reserves in banking centers, the obscure outcome of the coming year's crops, the doubt over the supply of cotten to be finally disclosed by the present year's crop, the sharp drop in the value of the speculative level at which prices of cotton and commodities generally are held, the problem of the earnings to be achieved on the heavy expenditures now making by the railroads, the uncertainties surrounding the war in the far East and its possible complications, and the natural unsettlement usual to a national political campaign in this country, are some of the substantial grounds for the hesitation and stagnation which enshroud the securities market. The note of improvement in the from and steel trade which was made known this week is of undoubted influence on the, stock market is evidence of the number and importance of other complex factors in the outlook. The rains in the Southwestern wheat belt are hearly of with satisfaction, and more confidence is felt that the threatened soft coal strike will be averted. All influences combined, however, have not proved sufficient to make any appreciable effect on prices of stocks. The bond market has been dult and slaggish in sympathy with stocks.

In the meat market prices continue steady as they have been for the past few days. Spring lambs are much in demand and fetching a good price.

The fish trade continues to be good, the delayed shipments having arrived in sections. A large consignment of Mackinaw trout was the principal feature; this brought is cents per pound in the wholesale market. Mountain trout was conspicuous by its absence, although a large quantity is supposed to be on its way in the trains that are snowed out.

California rhubarb made its first appearance for this spring at 19 cents per pound. Grape fruit has gone up in price is cents per case, doubtless on account of the storms.

NOTICE TO WATER USERS.

State Engineer's Office, Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 25, 1901.—Notice is hereby given that Irving M. Higley, whose postoffice address is Salt Lake City, Utah, has made application in accordance with the requirement of chapter 190 of the Session Laws of Utah, 1903, to appropriate eightenths (S-19ths) of a second-foot of water flowing from three certain springs situated in lot 2, block 45, An-acre Plat A, Big Field survey, Salt Lake county, Utah, which springs are tributary to the Mill creek branch of Jordan river. The water is to be diverted by means of dams and ditches into pends at various places on sald described lot, where it will be used continuously from January 1st to December 33st, inclusive, of each year for domestic purposes and for supplying said ponds with the water necessary for the spawning and propagating of fish, and also for use in irrigating said described lot from April 1st to October 1st of each year. This application contemplates that water equivalent to one-eighth (1-8th) of the combined flow from the springs will be consumed and that the remaining seven-eighths (f-Sths), after having passed through the fish ponds of the applicant, will be returned to the natural channel leading from said springs to Mill creek.

All protests against the granting of said application, stating the reasons therefor, must be made in writing and filed in this office after thirty (30) days and before sixty (60) days from the date hereof.
